MASS MEETING TONIGHT.

High Point People are Urged to Turn Out.

Correspondence of the Telegram.

High Point, May 3.—Wrightenbery Bros. have moved their shoe factory from the Welch building, on East Washington street, to the M. J. Wrenn building, on Main street, lately occupied by the Boston Shoe Company.

A petition has been circulated and signed by all the business houses of the town asking the city fathers to employ officers to protect their property during the night from thieves, fire fiends, etc. A step in the right direction and no doubt their demand will be granted. Our merchants have suffered no little lately from rogues entering their places of business in the dead hours of the night.

Robt. Storey, of Fairview Lodge, has returned from a visit to his old home in Scotland.

Rev. Jno. W. Wilborn, the versatile lecturer, delivered one of his late productions—"The Sin of Whiskey Selling," at the M. P. church last night.

The children of the school were treated to an outing yesterday—and you bet they enjoyed it.

Rev. S. D. Stamey, pastor at Naomi Station, and Rev. J. R. Scroggs of the M. E. church here, will exchange pulpits next Sunday.

Let every white citizen of High Point attend the mass meeting in the opera house tonight. Let us assemble in good spirit and recommend those who would do our town the most good.

Miss Mary Baker and Lillie Sherrod returned to their home in Hamilton yesterday.

Miss Elliott, of Hickory, is visiting the Misses Burns at the Jarrell Hotel.

SPREAD OF BUBONIC PLAGUE.

By Wire to the Telegram.

London, May 3—Telegrams received by London papers continue to show a remarkable spread of bubonic plague. It is now prevalent in at least a dozen parts of the world and it is feared that it will spread to even more serious proportions.

The more serious cases are in Mauritus, Bombay, Calcutta, Port Said, Teheran, Manila, Hong Kong, Melbourne, Sydney, Noume, New Caledonia, Brisbane and Buenos Ayres.

In Bombay and Calcutta the situation is especially alarming. Fifty-two deaths are reported from Sydney and fort yfrom Beunos Ayres.

Telegraphic Briefs Today.

Price Current, of Cincinnati, today says that the conditions generally continue favorable and the wheat outlook is maintained. Spring wheat has a good start, with possibly a reduced acreage.

Senator Aldrich said this morning that Congress would adjourn not later than June 12, and possibly earlier. There will be little legislation outside the appropriation bills.

The prevailing opinion among Senators in Washington is that the Nicaraguan canal bill, which passed the House yesterday by the overwhelming vote of 225 to 35, will not be acted upon by the Senate at its present session.

The War Department has issued an order granting Major General Wesley Merritt, commanding the military department in the East, leave of absence, with permission to go abroad.

R. T. Bass, of Danville, was killed while dismounting from an electric car in Norfolk yesterday.

The South Platte river is the highest in six years. Travel is tied up.

The Standard Oil Company has raised the wages and reduced the hours of 7,000 employees in New York.

About 16,000 men are now on strike in Philadelphia. The allied building trades' council today ordered out all its men, wherever brotherhood carpenters were working.

Prices on the London stock exchange were buoyant today, due to a number of rumors, all requiring confirmation, that the British had gained a victory in South Africa, that Kruger was dead, and that Mafeking had been relieved.

An American was arrested in connection with the blowing up of the Begbies arsenal, for which all remaining British subjects were expelled from the Transvaal. Begbies, Jr., one of the proprietors of the works, is under arrest on the charge of murder.

Tommy had been silent for three minutes, at the end of which time the following conversation ensued: Tommy—"Say, pop." Tommy's Pop—"Well, what is it, my son?" Tommy—"Wouldn't it be awful to be a centipede and have corns."

The President has pardoned J. H. Ward, who was convicted in July, 1899, in Bibb county, Ga., of violations of the postal laws and sentenced to the penitentiary for a year and a day. The prisoner has served all but two months of his term and the pardon is in consideration for the suffering condition of his wife and children. He signed for a money order addressed to his name, but which was for another J. H. Ward.

THE REPUBLICAN STATE TICKET.

ONE FUSION CANDIDATE ON—PROF. ENGLISH.

The Convention Went Like Clock-Work, Well Oiled, Without the Colored Brother.

The Telegram yesterday afternoon gave as much of the Republican ticket as had then been nominated. The whole ticket stands thus:

For Governor—Ex-Judge Spencer B. Adams, of Guilford.

For Lieutenant Governor—Claudius Dockery, of Rockingham.

For Auditor—Thos. S. Rollins, of Asheville

For Secretary of State—J. F. Parrott, of Lenoir.

For Attorney-General—Zeb Vance Walser, of Davidson.

For Commissioner of Labor and Printing—Thomas Malloy, of Rockingham.

Corporation Commissioner—J. A. Franks, of Swain.

Commissioner of Agriculture—Abner Alexander, of Tyrrell.

The convention was a lily-white affair, says the Post. Less than forty of the 240 delegates were negroes. Senator Pritchard succeeded better than was expected in keeping the negro in the background. The attendance was large for a Republican convention and there were more white men present than the party has ever mustered together before. Only one negro poked his head up during the convention. Late in the day ex-Representative Harris, colored, of Halifax, arose to second the nomination of Zeb Vance Walser. He recited a Patrick Henry oration and was apparently satisfied with himself.

The vice-presidential boom of Senator Pritchard was launched during the day. The convention instructed the North Carolina delegation to the National convention to vote for Wm. McKinley for President and Jeter C. Pritchard for Vice-President first, last and all the time. It is understood that Senator Pritchard will go to the National convention with strong Southern backing for the vice-presidential nomination.

Governor Russell did not attend the convention, and his name was not mentioned during the day. It had been expected that he would be elected delegate at large to the National convention out of courtesy, but he was not considered. Several delegates spoke of the incident as a snub to his excellency.

The convention carried out the policy of keeping the negro in the background, when it sat down on ex-Congressman H. P. Cheatham, who was placed in nomination for delegate at large. The mention of his name brought yells of "no." Cheatham then read the handwriting on the wall and withdrew.

Senator Pritchard spoke for nearly an hour, discussing the issues and Mr. Aycock's speech of acceptance before the Democratic State convention.

The proposed suffrage amendment and the new election law are bitterly denounced.

The convention was in session five hours and a half. A recess of one hour was taken for dinner. Attorney-General Walser presided over the convention.

OPTION ON FISHER HILL MINE.

THE POSSIBILITIES OF THE PROPERTY BEING INVESTIGATED.

Ten or More Rich Gold-Bearing Veins Run Through the Property—A Sale May Result

It is probable that the Fisher Hill gold mine, located about six miles south of Greensboro, will soon be in operation again. An option on the property has been secured by northern parties, and laborers are now employployed in taking water out of the mine. If the investigation proves the mine to be as rich as it is thought to be the property will be purchased, when the work of its development will proceed at once.

The Fisher Hill mine is well known in this section and is regarded as rich in gold-bearing ore. It is reliably stated that there are ten or more veins running through the property.

The mine has not been developed since 1887, when it was worked for about a year. A 10-stamp mill was used and the product for the twelve months was $29,950. On account of the death of the manager, a Mr. Nichols, at the Benbow House in this city, operations were suspended.

The work and results above referred to were from the operation of only one vein. If the present investigation should result in a purchase the property will be developed on a much larger scale than has ever before been attempted. It is estimated that such development would give proportionately increased output and results.

The parties holding the option represent London capitalists. Mr. W. R. Land, a local real estate and investment dealer, has charge of the negotiations.

TWENTY AMERICANS KILLED.

Manila, May 2.—The American garrison at Catubig, Island of Samar, consisting of twenty men belonging to the Forty-third regiment, has been attacked by rebels. Twenty of the Americans were killed. The remainder were rescued. The Americans were quartered in the Catubig church, which the enemy, numbering several hundred men, surrounded and fiercely attacked The Americans fought for two days and then the rebels managed to ignite the roof of the church, and it burned away and finally fell upon those inside. The walls remained intact, however, and were used as a shelter by the besieged Americans for three days longer, the enemy attacking the building on all sides at once. The Americans fired from the windows and doors of the church and did great execution among the Filipinos It is estimated that over 200 of the latter were killed, many dead bodies being removed from the scene of the fighting. After five days' resistance by the Americans a lieutenant and eight men arrived from Laoan and engaged the besiegers, who thereupon retired. The fortunate arrival of these re-enforcements prevented the annihilation of the American force entrenched in the church, who had repeatedly declined to surrender when ordered to do so by the Filipinos. The ten survivors were without food, had little ammunition and were physically exhausted when relieved. This fight has encouraged the Filipinos, who are now acting in an actively aggressive manner and threatening that section of the coast, particularly the town of Catarma, whence the garrison probably will be withdrawn to Laoan.

A DROP IN PRICE.

The Miner Took Less Than He First Asked For His Claim.

"These fabulous stories you hear," said a Colorado man, "of the wonderful discoveries made and prices received for claims in the mining regions bring back to my mind a story that used to be told in the earlier days of Colorado.

"A young chap had there located a claim in which he had every confidence that ore existed, but try as he would he was unable to locate the precious metal, and little by little he became sicker and sicker at heart until at length there came a day whose closing was marked by clean discouragement on his part. His last piece of bacon was eaten, his last stick of gunpowder fired and his credit utterly used up. Still he believed the ore to be there, but he recognized the utter futility on his part of trying further to get at it. Lonely and out of spirits, just at sunset he stood at the door of his cabin looking for the last time over the scene of his useless efforts, when down the winding trail came a stranger astride of a broncho. Taking in the situation at a glance, the man reined in his cayuse and called out to the lonely figure in the cabin doorway, 'Say, pardner, what will you take for that played out claim of yours?'

"Hope sprang up and gleamed from the miner's eyes as he firmly replied: 'Played out nothing. It'll take $1,000,000 cold to buy me out.'

"The stranger slowly gathered up the reins. 'I'll give you $8,' he said tentatively.

"'All in cash?' queried the late prospective millionaire eagerly.

"'Yep,' was the response.

CHIMNEY FIRES.

Why Salt Is Commonly Used to Put Them Out.

In accounts of chimney fires it is common to read that the fire was extinguished by throwing salt down the chimney. Salt is used because there is liberated from it when it comes into contact with the fire a gas that within an inclosed space like a chimney is very effective in extinguishing fire. The primary purpose in throwing salt or anything else down a burning chimney is to dislodge the burning soot, chimney fires being caused by the ignition of the soot clinging to the inside of the chimney. Salt is used for this purpose not alone because of its peculiar effectiveness, but also because it is something available for the purpose that can commonly be found at hand in a house. It is thrown down the chimney in such a manner that it will rattle down the sides and by its weight knock down the soot and sparks clinging to the chimney's insides.

A bucket of sand has been put to the same use with good effect, and sometimes a scuttle of coal has been poured down the chimney, the coal bounding about from side to side as it dropped and so doing its work effectively. Sometimes a brick is taken from the chimney itself and, tied to a clothesline, is hauled up and down the chimney, with the same result. At the hearth below or at the bottom of the chimney wherever the sparks may fall there is stationed a man with a pail of water to put out whatever fire may drop. Water is not played on a chimney fire from a hose because it is not necessary, and the water would do more damage than the fire.

The damage caused by a fire in a chimney when it is confined there is nothing or next to nothing. Left alone, however, a chimney fire might work its way into a building and so prove destructive, and therefore slight as they may be in themselves or as they might be in their consequences chimney fires are always put out and commonly in the manner described.—Exchange.

EAGLES AND THEIR PREY.

A Giant Bird Whose Race Has Happily Become Extinct.

There is at the present moment at the Natural History museum a model of the skull of an eagle so gigantic that the imagination can scarcely fit it into the life of this planet at all.

The whole head is larger than that of an ox, and the beak resembles a pair of hydraulic shears. Unlike most of the giant beasts, this eagle, which inhabited Patagonia, appears from its remains to have differed little from the existing species. Its size alone distinguishes it. The quills of the feathers which bore this awful raptor through the air must have been as thick as a walking stick and the webs as wide as car blades. It would have killed and torn to pieces creatures as large as a bison and whirled up into the sky and dropped into the rocks the gigantic carapaced animals of prehistoric Patagonia as easily as a modern eagle of California does the land tortoise on which it feeds.

Even today there are few carnivorous animals, whether birds or beasts, which have so wide a range of prey as the eagles. Like the kinged dragons of old story, they can ravage earth, air and sea and feed promiscuously on the denizens of all three elements. From serpents on the burning desert to seals on the everlasting ice, from monkeys in the tropical forests to marmots on the Alpine slopes, from dead sheep on highland hills to peacocks in the Indian jungles, no form of fish, flesh or fowl comes amiss to them, and the young eagle, driven by the inexorable law of his race from the home where he was reared, finds a free breakfast table wherever he flies.—Cornhill Magazine.

Easily Settled.

They fell into conversation on the avenue street car, as men will to pass away the time, and when one of them happened to mention he was from Pittsburg the other turned to him with:

"Pittsburg, eh? Dear me, but now singular!"

"How do you mean, sir?" was asked.

"Why, I was in Pittsburg 21 years ago and lost 10 cents in a street car. I was thinking of the incident just before you spoke to me. I suppose you couldn't inform me whether the money was ever found, could you?"

"Why, yes; I believe I can. I found a dime in a street car about 21 years ago and have been looking for the owner ever since. Here it is. It must belong to you."

"Thanks. You are an honest man. Here's 2 cents to reward you."

The Pittsburg man pocketed the reward as the other pocketed the dime, and then they closed the incident.—Washington Post.

Swelled the Collection.

A man came up to me one day after service in a frontier town and was pleased to address me in this manner:

"Say, parson, that there service and sermon was grand. I wouldn't have missed 'em for $5."

When I suggested that he hand me the difference between the amount he had put in the collection basket and the figure he mentioned for my missionary work, he stopped suddenly, looked at me with his mouth wide open and then slowly pulled from his pocket $4.90, which he handed to me without a word.—Rev. Cyrus Townsend Brady in Ladies' Home Journal.

The Savage Bachelor.

It is not often the savage bachelor descends to the use of a pun. It is beneath his dignity. But the sweet young thing, the other half of the sketch, asked him this morning what was his objection to woman in politics.

"Every single one of 'em is a ring candidate right now," said the savage bachelor.—Indianapolis Press.

Strange that so many people entertain the idea that ANYTHING WILL DO in the way of glasses. Using improper or defective lenses, they IMAGINE they SEE WELL, or if aware that their vision is below par, think it impossible for any one to improve their sight. We have many such persons fall into our hands, who almost imagine we have wrought a miracle, by simply placing a piece of glass before their eyes that entirely restores impaired or failing sight. They have failed to get such vision before simply because they have never had their eyes SCIENTIFICALLY examined or PROPERLY FITTED.

THURSDAY, MAY 3 1900.

Mr. W. I. Underwood having accepted a position on the Telegram, becomes City Editor of the paper. This young gentleman is too well known to the people of Greensboro to need introduction at our hands. He has lived here for a number of years, and has become well acquainted with the people of both the town and county. They know him to be not only an agreeable man, but an honorable and conscientious one as well. Mr. Underwood is also a well equipped newspaper man, having done both daily and weekly work. For two years past he has done both local and editorial work on the Greensboro Patriot, and is an assiduous newsgatherer, and the Telegram will thank its friends to give him whatever items of news they may know at any time. A newsgatherer's work is hard enough when the public helps him, but when it doesn't, as it should, it is doubly so.

THE PRIMARY.

The Democratic primaries for the nomination of a ticket for city officers occur tonight. It is the duty of every Democrat to attend his ward meeting and help to nominate the men of his choice. Every citizen has a duty in this matter. No man has a right to abstain from participation in the politics of his ward, his town, his county or his State. This is the only means whereby the blessings of liberty and good government may be perpetuated. We want to get out of the idea that we haven't got time to attend to our public duties. We must take time.

In our complex system and extensive territory the primary system of nominating candidates is absolutely the only one that insures to each man the expression of his own opinions. Especially has this been learned by the Democratic party. In many counties of this State Democratic conventions for the nomination of offices are not held at all, primary elections, in which every man votes his choice, being used instead. In this way every candidate absolutely has an equal chance. Nominating conventions, with their slates and strings and packing, are things of the past in the Democratic party. They are used exclusively by the Republicans and Populists, in which parties a few bosses make and unmake candidates.

The leaders in the present Citizens' movement did not submit to a primary. The candidates were "seen" and the slate fixed by a few men, and Democrats are asked to vote for this ticket in order to save their "rights." Any reform party that claims to be acting in behalf of the people ought not to be afraid to appeal to the people in a primary, absolutely the only way in which the people have a chance of expressing their will. And any "reform" movement that is afraid of the people should in turn be a source of fear to them.

Let Democrats come out square tonight in their primaries, nominate the men they want, and there will be no danger of failing to elect them.

Nominations went begging at Raleigh yesterday.

The ragged edges of the Citizens' ticket seems not to have been patched up yet.

How can the Democrats who vote for Judge Adams for Alderman turn him down for Governor?

The Republican convention yesterday tossed the trust football equally back and forth between state and national legislation.

The Citizens' ticket ought to feel complimented that the Republican State convention snatched up one of its candidates and nominated him for Governor.

Now how will our friend Judge Adams be able to attend to the duties of Alderman of Greensboro and Governor of North Carolina at the same time?

Honorable William L. Wilson has emerged from a scholastic siesta and enunciated three very important truths—that Dewey will disappear as a presidential candidate as a tale that is told, that Cleveland will not be a candidate, and that the Democrats will go in the fight solidly and win.

We have known that Senator Pritchard is a man of many accomplishments, but had never supposed him to be a humorist until he declared yesterday that he was prepared to show, that instead of having mismanaged the affairs of the State, the Fusion party had given the state an administration superior to that of the Democrats.

LUSK AS A MISSIONARY.

Virgilius Simpronius Lusk, of the city of Asheville, late custodian of Judge Norwood's resignation, is a figure cast in heroic mould; he might easily vie with Congressman Linney for the admiration of the gallery gods. Lusk is grand, gloomy and peculiar. "I am Lusk," he proudly exclaims in minutely describing himself. Before the august assemblage of patriots, designated for convenience and euphony the Buncombe Republican convention, this statesman of the mountains said:

In my opinion the acquisition of the Philippines is the grandest thing that ever came to the South. Has such success as our arms had in the late war ever come to any nation? Never on the face of the earth, since the God of Israel fought the r battles for the Israelites. The first great thing is to christianize the Philippines, to open the doors for the missionaries

In vulgar parlance, that's the stuff. By all means christianize the Philippines. After next August there will be a good many gentlemen in North Carolina whose profession will have vanished. When the colored brother is removed from politics in this commonwealth, a large part of the business of a large number of the ministers will be gone. See the fitness of things—Philippines mostly colored, needing missionaries; colored brethren in North Carolina out of jobs. Of course they ought to get together.

Lusk has seen the situation. He knows the needs and he knows how to meet them. We should like to see him organize a mission band at once. By long acquired practice he knows how to organize the colored brethren, and as he will find it hard to get out of the habit, and there will be no need of his efforts in North Carolina after August, the Philippines and a battalion of dusky missionaries is the thing. Of course he will continue with us as manager from the home field.

A Delegate Shouted For Aycock.

From Pritchard's Speech.

"Mr. Simmons boldly proclaimed here in Raleigh that the intention of the amendment is to disfranchise the negro, but the real intention and purpose of it is to put the white man and the negro, who can't read or write, along together."

A voice from a delegate—"Hurrah for Aycock. I glory in the name."

The speaker proved to be ex-Sheriff Smith of Vance county.

"Put him out! Put him out!" shouted a dozen men around him, rising up to execute their threat.

Smith rose, too. "You can't do it," he shouted. "I'm as good a Republican as you are and I'm a delegate."

"Just a little too much whiskey, I reckon," said Senator Pritchard as the delegates settled down and he proceeded.

Will Buy the Old White House.

Opelika, Ala., May 2—The State convention of the Daughters of the Confederacy today voted to buy the old Jefferson Davis home at Montgomery. This was the white house of the Confederacy. Mrs. John Kirkpatrick, of Montgomery, was elected president.

On the Road to Bloemfontein.

Thaba N'Chu, May 2—Hamilton's division were engaged yesterday and today in forcing a passage northward. At Noutney the Boer front held a line of hills commanding the sides of Nek The Canadians and Gordons attacked the hill on the left of Shepshires, Marshal's horse supported the battery and also attacked the enemy who finally fled, leaving many of their wounded, and the passage was cleared. The Boers on the mountain are now shelling the outlying camp, necessitating the removal to a safer place The Boers have three guns on the hill to the eastward of this place, outside the range of the British artillery. The Boer shelling is not doing any damage, but the enemy retain their positions, and the British are not attempting to dislodge them. Hamilton, by reaching Houtney after a full day's fighting, commands Thaba N'Chu, on the Bloemfontein road. During the day the British captured three kopjes and the Boers lost heavily.

FREE BLOOD CURE.

Ulcers, cancers, eating sores, Painful swellings, effects of blood poison, persistent eruptions, that refuse to heal under ordinary treatment are quickly cured by B. B. B. (Botanic Blood Balm), the most wonderful blood purifier of the age, made especially to cure all terrible obstinate deep-seated blood and skin troubles. Is your blood thin? Are you pale? All run down? Danny Lied.

Danny, who is an errand boy in a broker's office, got a job in the same office for his chum Harry. Danny set himself the task of making Harry appear to the best advantage during the probationary period of his job, and he found it necessary sometimes to use means that were only justified by the end.

Every afternoon Danny had to run with messages from one of the exchanges to the office, a distance of half a mile. When Harry came, Danny had to "break him in" to do this. The first day that he made the trip from the exchange Harry staggered into the office, gasping, with his eyes starting from his head. For a moment he couldn't speak. The broker looked at him in astonishment and said:

"You ran pretty fast, didn't you? How long did it take?"

"That's pretty good time," said the broker.

"No, sir," said Harry; "not very good. Danny says he does it every day in a minute and a quarter."—New York Commercial Advertiser.

Avenged the Slight.

A rich Prussian banker who had bought his title of "von" by some means or other managed to squeeze his son into a regiment of the guards. Once admitted, he was of course treated by the other officers as one of themselves. One day the banker gave a splendid dinner, to which he invited through his son all the officers of the regiment save one, a very nice fellow, who, however, was not noble, having no aristocratic "von" prefixed to his name.

All accepted the invitation, perfectly unconscious that one of their number had been so badly treated. When, however, they took their seats at the table, the absence of their comrade was immediately noticed. Some one remarked the fact to the host, who said in a loud voice, "Ah, you see, we are going to be entre nous tonight, a really select party, you know."

"Then we must not disturb you," said the senior officer present, rising from his chair, and one after another the guardsmen solemnly filed out of the room, thus amply avenging the slight to which an officer of their regiment had been subjected.

Gas Over the Telephone.

A lady of the West village decided to have a telephone placed in her house. At about the same time she also decided to have a gas range put in. After a family consultation she instructed her daughter to order the telephone. In the conversation both the telephone and gas range had been spoken of, and the daughter apparently became somewhat confused, as will be seen by the following letter which she wrote ordering the telephone: "Dear Sir—We have decided to have a telephone placed in the house. Please give it your immediate attention. The house is not piped for gas, but the street is."—Winsted (Conn.) Citizen.

QUESTIONS ANSWERED.

Yes, August Flower still has the largest sale of any medicine in the civilized world. Your mothers and grandmothers never thought of using anything else for indigestion or biliousness. Doctors were scarce, and they seldom heard of appendicitis, nervous prostration or heart failure, etc. They used August Flower to clean out the system and stop fermentation of undigested food, regulate the action of the liver, stimulate the nervous and organic action of the system, and that is all they took when feeling dull and bad with headaches and othaches. You only need a few doses of Green's August Flower, in liquid form, to make you satisfied there is nothing serious the matter with you. For sale by Grissom & Fordham.

AN ANCIENT BELIEF.

The ancients believed that rheumatism was the work of a demon within a man. Any one who has had an attack of siatic or inflammatory rheumatism will agree that the affliction is demoniac enough to warrant the belief. It has never been claimed that Chamberlain's Pain Balm would cast out demons, but it will cure rheumatism, and hundreds bear testimony to the truth of this statement. One application relieves the pain, and this quick relief which it affords is alone worth many times its cost. For sale by C. E. Holton, Druggist.

WINE OF CARDUI
Woman's Crowning Virtue.

BELTON, Mo., July 27.
For years I suffered terrible pains every month and my doctor told me I could not be cured except by an operation. I felt I could not submit to that and was so despondent I had given up all hopes of a cure. My husband insisted on my trying Wine of Cardui and at last thank God I did try it. Last month I did not have a pain, and did all my work, which I had not done in seven years.
MRS. MINNIE LITTLE.

McELREE'S Wine of Cardui

Modesty is the crowning virtue of American women. It is the trait that all mankind admires. A modest woman is the most pleasing of all created things. Because of this becoming virtue thousands of women prefer to suffer untold miseries rather than confide their troubles to a physician, and to even think of submitting to an examination is revolting. They can't get their own consent to an operation. Wine of Cardui permits sensitive women to retain their modesty. With it they can cure "female troubles" in the quiet of their own rooms. If special treatment is required they can write to the Advisory Department of the Chattanooga Medicine Co., and their letters will be promptly answered by women trained in the cure of womanly weaknesses and irregularities. There should be no hesitation. Delayed treatment means a chronic condition. The longer postponed the harder to cure.

Stage Thunder and Lightning.

The reason why the mechanism for making the noises that give realism to a play are never seen by the audience is because the illusion would be completely destroyed if its operations were exposed to view, explains Frank Fyles in The Ladies' Home Journal.

The noise of the waiter falling down stairs with a tray of dishes, for instance, is simulated by dropping as often as necessary a basket filled with bits of broken china, and a cylinder of silk, turned with a crank, drawing the cloth over wooden flanges, gives a perfect rain and wind storm. A lightning accompaniment is made by touching an ordinary file to a bit of carbon, both on live wires, and thunder by rolling tenpin balls in a long, narrow, wooden trough.

The rumble of the wheels of a carriage is imitated with a vehicle like a miniature freight car run on a wooden track, and a striking of wood or metal on hard or soft surfaces serves to convince an audience of the approach or departure of a horse. When there is war, a single shot or two is usually the real thing, but a rifle volley effect is obtained by rapidly beating a dried calfskin with rattans, while heavy strokes on the bass drum will convey the idea of cannonading.

If this mechanism were seen in operation by an audience, it would make the whole performance seem ridiculous.

Longevity of Whales.

Some light was thrown upon the subject of the vitality of whales by finding one of these animals in Bering sea in 1890 with a "toggle" harpoon head in its body bearing the mark of the American whaler Montezuma. That vessel was engaged in whaling in Bering sea about ten years, but not later than 1854. She was afterward sold to the government and was sunk in Charleston harbor during the civil war to serve as an obstruction. Hence it is estimated the whale must have carried the harpoon not less than 36 years.

In connection with this fact William H. Dall gives an account in The National Geographic Magazine of a discussion with Captain E. P. Herendeen of the United States National museum of cases of whales that have been supposed to have made their way from Greenland waters to Bering strait and to have been identified by the harpoons they carried. While it is very likely that the whale really makes the passage an uncertainty must always be allowed, for ships were often changing ownership, and their tools were sold and put on board of other vessels, and harpoon irons were sometimes given or traded to Eskimos. It therefore becomes possible that the animal was struck with a secondhand iron.—Popular Science.

Elephant and Train.

A big and ugly elephant which had long been an object of pursuit to the sportsmen of the Straits Settlements one day wandered on to the railway line and tried conclusions with the engine of a goods train, charging it repeatedly and keeping up the contest for nearly an hour. The engine was reversed in the hope that the beast would allow the train to proceed, but as soon as there was any attempt to renew the journey the elephant returned to the encounter and resumed its obstructive tactics. The driver was afraid to charge the brute, lest the train should be thrown off the rails, and the contest might have gone on much longer had not the elephant backed into the engine and, setting its fore feet firmly between the rails, endeavored to shove the train backward with its hind quarters.

The driver took advantage of the opportunity and put on steam, gradually forcing the beast off the line. In this maneuver one of the wheels of the engine went over the hind legs of the animal, which was put out of its misery by the guard of a following passenger train.—Science.

Humors of the Law.

In a recent bankruptcy case, in speaking of justices of the peace, they are said to be "officers by no means infallible, frequently innocent of law and actually sometimes known to construe the abbreviation affix designating their office, 'J. P.' to mean 'judgment for plaintiff.'"

A federal court, in explaining that the functions of a charge d'affaires were not shown by the literal translation of the terms, illustrated by saying, "To appoint a person chief builder could not be understood to invest him with the ecclesiastical functions of the pontifex maximus."—Case and Comment.

Effective Prayer.

A very nice and gentle curate went to a Yorkshire parish where the parishioners bred horses and sometimes raced them. He was asked to invite the prayers of the congregation for Luck Gray. He did so. They prayed three Sundays for Luck Gray. On the fourth the clerk told the curate he need not do it any more.

"Why?" asked the curate. "Is she dead?"

"No," said the clerk; "she's won the steeplechase."

The curate became quite a power in the parish.

"No, my arm went to sleep!"—Types.

In the northwest provinces of India goats frequently eat without any ill effect the leaves and green stems of the akaua or madar, the milky juice of which is an acrid poison for human beings and is frequently used as such in infanticide cases.

J. C. Kennedy, Roanoke, Tenn., says, "I cannot say too much for DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve. One box cured what the doctors called an incurable ulcer on my jaw." Cures piles and all skin diseases. Look out for worthless imitations. Howard Gardner.

DOES IT PAY TO BUY CHEAP?

A cheap remedy for conghs and colds is all right, but you want something that will relieve and cure the more severe and dangerous results of throat and lung troubles. What shall you do? Go to a warmer and more regular climate? Yes, if possible; if not possible for you, then in either case take the only remedy that has been introduced in all civilized countries with success in severe throat and lung troubles, "Boschee's German Syrup." It not only heals and stimulates the tissues to destroy the germ disease, but allays inflammation, causes easy expectoration, gives a good night's rest, and cures the patient. Try one bottle. Recommended many years by all druggists in the world. For sale by Grissom & Fordham.

SHOT AT A LITTLE GIRL.

Thought She Was a Man Under the Bed and Fired Four Times.

Manchester Dispatch in Richmond Times.

For a time there was great excitement on Fifth street last night about 9 o'clock. The scene of the trouble was at the home of Mr. Samuel Westcott, just across the street from the Fifth Street Methodist church. Four pistol shots startled the neighborhood and brought the congregation from the revival service to the street.

The excitement was occasioned by what was supposed to have been a man, who had been concealed under the bed in one of the rooms on the second floor, jumping from the window. Mrs. Westcott entered her room in the dark, and in passing near the bed stepped on the hand of some one. She screamed and her husband rushed to the room with a lamp, and as he entered, pistol in hand, a human figure leaped from the window on to the roof of the porch. As the figure disappeared Mr. Westcott fired four times. In the faint light the crouching figure could be seen near the eaves of the house by the crowd which gathered in the street, and there were some in the crowd who wished to fire on the figure as it lay shrinking from their view. But there were none who were willing to climb out the window.

The police station was communicated with and Officer Wright was soon on the scene. He climbed through the window and on the roof, while the crowd watched. On reaching the figure he found it to be a little girl, possibly twelve years of age. She was taken into the house, where she told her name as Bessie Hobeck, but made no explanation of her conduct. She was taken to the station, and soon her father, who lives in Chesterfield county, near Clopton, came by to inquire if his child, who ran away from home during the day, had been seen in Manchester. The child was turned over to the father, who took her in a buggy with him and started for his home.

Democratic Primaries.

The Democrats of the city of Greensboro are hereby called to assemble in their ward meetings on Thursday, May 3rd at 8:30 p. m., at the following places:

First ward, Farmers warehouse.

Second ward, Lindsey street graded school house.

Third ward, market house.

Fourth ward, Banner warehouse

Fifth ward, Ross building, 112 Lewis street.

Sixth ward, Asheboro street graded school building.

At said ward meetings each ward shall select two candidates for aldermen and one member of the city executive committee. A vote shall be taken in the ward meetings for candidates for mayor and said vote for mayor shall be sent to the general convention to be held in the court house on Friday night May 4th at 8:30 o'clock.

If any candidate for mayor shall receive a majority of the votes cast in the wards he shall be the nominee of the convention. If no candidate for Mayor receives a majority in the ward meetings, then the convention shall proceed to ballot for a candidate for mayor.

In order to avoid confusion, it is requested that each ward assemble in the court house in the portion which will be assigned to it and each have a chairman and two tellers.

C. H. Ireland,
Chairman.

A PLEASURE AND A DUTY.

I consider it not only a pleasure but a duty I owe to my neigbors to tell about the wonderful cure affected in my case by the timely use of Chamberlain' Colic, Cholera, and Diarrhoea Remedy. A few doses of it affected a permanent cure. I take pleasure in recommending it to others suffering from that dreadful disease —J. W. Lynch, Dorr, W. Va. This remedy is sold by C. E. CATARRH CAN BE CURED BY

Johnston's Sarsaparilla

QUART BOTTLES.

"DANGER IN THE EARTH AND AIR; DANGER EVERYWHERE."

In a leading hotel, in a great city, a famous and aged physician was conversing. Listening to his wise and sententious discourse, were a group of well dressed men, evidently lawyers, business men and commercial travelers.

My firm belief, is "that medical science is certain yet to show that all diseases without exception are caused by invisible germs which are living organisms. Here is the germ of that terrible disease diphtheria. Here is the bacillus of typhoid fever; and here is the still more dreadful bacillus of tubercle which causes that most destructive of all diseases, consumption. This of that very common and supposed incurable disease, catarrh."

"I wish, Doctor," said the traveling man, "that you would tell us about catarrh. I have had it for years, and I am thoroughly discouraged."

The Doctor answered. "Catarrh, like diphtheria, consumption, typhoid fever, and a host of other diseases, is the result of a microbe invading the blood and attacking specially the mucous membrane. This foul and most disgusting disease is especially prevalent in the United States and it is rare to meet one who is not, or has not been troubled more or less with it. How often is he or she obliged to remain at home from pleasant entertainments, deprive themselves of many intellectual treats, from fear of the disagreeable odor arising from catarrhal affections. In its worst phase, the patient becomes loathsome both to himself and his friends.

"I believe," continued this great physician, "that the true way to heal catarrh is to medicate the blood. This can be done only by powerful alteratives which act as blood purifiers."

Betsy A. Marett, of Manistee, Manistee Co., Mich., writes:

Dear Sirs:—For ten years I was a sufferer from general debility and chronic catarrh. My face was pale as death. I was weak and short of breath. I could hardly walk, I was so dizzy and had a ringing in my head all the time. My hands and feet were always cold. My appetite was very poor. On getting up in the morning, my head swam so I was often obliged to lie down again. I had awful pains in the small of my back. I had a continual feeling of tiredness. My muscular power was almost entirely gone, and I couldn't go half a dozen steps without stopping to rest, and often that much exercise caused me to have a pain in my side. It seemed as though the blood had left my veins. The doctors said my blood had all turned to water. I had given up all hope of ever getting well. I tried the best physicians in the state, but failed to get any relief. My husband got me a bottle of Johnston's Sarsaparilla. I took it, and then I bought another. When these had been used, I was somewhat improved in health. I continued its use, and felt I was growing stronger; my sleep was refreshing, and it seemed as if I could feel new blood moving through my veins. I kept on taking it, and now consider myself a well and rugged woman. I work all the time, and am happy. I am positive that the Sarsaparilla saved my life. The sick headaches I have had since childhood, have disappeared, and my catarrh has almost entirely left me. I cannot be too thankful for what Johnston's Sarsaparilla has done for me. I recommend all women who have sick headaches to use your Sarsaparilla.

WITH THE PEOPLE.

This Column is Devoted to a Record of Their Movements.

Mr. W. T. Williams and bride went to Burlington this morning.

Mrs. Harry Ford, of Reidsville, spent yesterday in the city, visiting Mrs. D. E. Thomas.

Mr. R. M. Philips returned last night from Star, Montgomery county, where he visited his father.

Mesdames J. H. Ferrell and A. Davis, of Randleman, are in the city. They are guests of the McAdoo.

Mr. W. H. Ragan came down from High Point this morning and went out into the country on business.

Capt. B. J. Fisher, who has been spending some time here, left last night on his return to Washington.

Mr. D. B. McCreary, a hardware merchant of Asheboro, came to Greensboro last night on business.

The Misses Dick and Miss Stimson, of Randleman, are spending the day in the city on a shopping tour. They are stopping at the Guilford.

Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Devin, of Oxford, are visiting at the home of the bride's parents, Capt. and Mrs. Thomas Bernard, on Asheboro street.

Capt. Z. B. Vance, in charge of the recruiting station at this place, will leave this evening for Charlotte, where he will open a recruiting office tomorrow.

Misses Mary Lybrook and Sadie Allen, of Winston-Salem, chaperoned by Mrs. Will Reynolds, came down at noon on a shopping trip. While here they are the guests of Mrs. R F. Dalton.

Col. James E. Boyd came up from Raleigh with the delegates to the Republican State convention and went on to Washington this afternoon. He hopes to spend a part of his vacation this summer in Greensboro.

A 16 to 1 Game.

The Bingham School baseball team was here this morning on its return from Danville, where the boys defeated the D. M. I team yesterday to the tune of 16 to 1. One of the Bingham boys said the score was really 17 to 2, but for the sake of euphony it was changed to 16 to 1.

Students' Recital.

Tomorrow evening the pupils of Mr. C. R. Brown will give a recital at his studio at 8:15 o'clock, at which the following members of his class will sing: Mrs. J. A. Tate, Misses Jamison, Poole, Glenn, Murray, Clary and Gannon, and Messrs. Farrar, Snow and F. M. Brown.

Captured a Distillery.

Yesterday Messrs. E. L. Ragan and R. J. Martin, of the revenue force, went down in the northern part of Randolph county and captured a blockade distillery running in full blast. The distillery was cut up and a quantity of beer poured out. The owner was operating on a big scale.

An alarm of fire turned in from box No. 25, on the corner of East Market and North Forbis streets, shortly before 9 o'clock last evening, brought out several companies of the department and a large crowd in double-quick time. The occasion of the alarm was a small blaze in a house across the street from the gas works An overturned lamp ignited a window curtain, but the fire was extinguished before any considerable damage was done.

Fun in High Point.

Greensboro does not enjoy a monopoly of fun over municipal politics. Up in High Point candidates are numerous and the fight promises to be warm. Several factions have candidates for mayor. The convention will be held tonight.

A gentleman here from High Point today says the people in that town now recognize the mistake they made in trying to keep municipal affairs out of politics. The town has grown to such proportions that many think it unsafe to longer trust affairs in the hands of the independent voters.

A Dummy Jugged.

Tuesday night a drunken deaf and dumb negro, old and decrepit, was arrested and placed in the lock-up. Yesterday he wrote the mayor a note, praying the leniency of the court and promising to leave town instanter if he would be given his liberty. Mayor Taylor remembered the man in mercy and ordered his release.

Instead of shaking the dust of the city from his feet, the dummy tanked up on mean corn liquor and in a few hours was again in durance vile. His case will be attended to this afternoon.

PROF. CLAXTON NOMINATED.

The Advocate Suggests Him for President of the University.

In speaking of the probability of Dr. Alderman accepting the presidency of Tulane University, the North Carolina Christian Advocate, published in this city, this week suggests the name of Prof. P. P. Claxton, of the State Normal and Industrial College, as his successor as president of the University of North Carolina. The Advocate says:

"The general impression is that Prof. E. A. Alderman, of the University, will accept the offer of the presidency of Tulane University at New Orleans. We shall be very sorry to see him leave the State. He is a man of fine character and great ability and we can ill afford to lose him from our educational work. If he goes, we take the liberty of nominating Prof. P. P. Claxton for his successor. In scholarship, in experience as a teacher, in character and standing, Prof. Claxton measures up to the responsible position. However, we do not know that he would accept the position."

CAPT. FISHER INVESTS.

He Buys the Southern Loan and Trust Company's Office Building.

Before leaving for Washington city last night Capt. B. J. Fisher stated that he had just closed a trade for the purchase of the Southern Loan and Trust Company's office building on East Market Street.

When seen this morning some of the officers of the company confirmed the above statement and said that negotiations looking to the consummation of the trade had been in progress for several days.

It is understood that the occupants of the building will not be disturbed and that the Southern Loan and Trust Company will continue to occupy its present offices.

The price paid and the other details of the trade have not been announced, though the purchase money represents a large outlay.

Baseball at Guilford College.

Guilford College and Whitsett Institute will play a game of baseball on the grounds of the latter tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. An interesting game is anticipated.

At 7:30 in the evening the Athletic Association will give its annual entertainment. Refreshments will be served. An admission of 15 cents will be charged.

Narrow Escape from Drowning.

While out fishing with her mother and several others yesterday afternoon the seven-year-old daughter of Capt and Mrs. J. H. Walsh fell into the creek, and but for her presence of mind, would probably have been drowned. She floated down stream for a few yards, when she caught hold of a stick and was pulled out.

Go out tonight and vote for your choice.

For Beating His Wife.

Walter Banks, a colored employe at the Southern freight depot, was arrested by Deputy Sheriff Weatherly last night on a warrant charging him with wife beating. The affray occurred at the home of Banks yesterday afternoon. He was given a hearing before Justice Pritchett this morning and taxed $5.50 for his little diversion.

Returning Delegates.

Judge Spencer B. Adams, the nominee for Governor, and a number of delegates to the Republican State convention, came up from Raleigh on the noon train. A part of the Greensboro contingent returned on the early morning train. Several local Republicans were at the depot to greet their fellow townsman and nominee for Governor

The convention was well attended and the business before it was transacted with dispatch, an adjournment being taken about 7 o'clock last evening.

One of the Best.

The high standard of the lecture and entertainments on the Normal College course will be well maintained next Saturday night, the committee in charge having secured Dr. Claribel Cone to speak on the subject of "Careers for Women." The lecture is addressed primarily to the student body of the College, but will be none the less interesting to the general public, as the speaker is a woman who has risen to a place of distinction in the medical profession in Baltimore. She is President of the Woman's Medical College of that city, and has the additional interest of being a sister of our townsmen, Messrs. Caesar and Julius Cone.

The price of admission to those not holding tickets will be 50 cents.

"Strange how nature equalizes all things," said the philosopher. "I mean to say that nothing is lost in nature. What may be lacking here is given twofold there."

"Ah," remarked the novelist, "how about the loss of sleep?"

"Just the point I was going to make. Now, the sleep you lose over the writing of a novel is very frequently gained by those who attempt to read it."

Time now to get out of your heavy winter underwear and into something cooler. We are selling men's summer underwear at last year's prices. Balbriggan shirts, 50, 36 and 25 cents each. Democratic primaries this evening at 8:30 o'clock.

The work of extending Eugene Street across Walker Avenue and south of the railroad was begun today.

George Ellington, the carpenter who was run over and injured by a shifting engine Tuesday, is able to be about his business.

If you are a Democrat, and interested in progressive municipal government, it is your duty to attend your ward primary this evening.

The University of Maryland football team spent last night at the McAdoo House and left this morning for Chapel Hill to play the U. N. C. boys.

The exhibit of the city treasurer for the past fiscal year shows receipts to have been $58,037 54, which is $887 35 in excess of expenditures. These figures do not include the $35,000 bond sale.

Greensboro is well represented on the new Republican State executive committee. Postmaster Tyre Glenn, United States Marshal Millikan and Deputy Collector Starkey Hare are members.

Mr. J. R. McRary, one of the Republican electors-at-large, is a brother of Chief Clerk McRary, of the marshal's office. He lives in Lexington and is the referee in bankruptcy for this district.

The mayor was called on yesterday afternoon to administer justice in only one case. A negro was before him for carrying concealed weapons. The "toter" of firearms was sent on to the Superior court.

Sheriff Gilmer will visit High Point tomorrow for the purpose of giving the people of that town and section who have not done so, an opportunity of paying their taxes. He will be at the mayor's office.

The remains of Mrs. Clara Cushman, who died of heart failure in Aiken, S. C. passed through here today enroute to Manchester for interment. The body was accompanied by the husband of the deceased.

Guilford county's new steam road roller has been transferred from the Pomona road to the road leading out from Summit Avenue. The ponderous machine attracted considerable attention as it was steered through town late yesterday afternoon.

On account of a failure to properly hitch the Southside Hose Company's horse to the hose wagon, in answering the fire alarm last night, the driver was unable to guide the animal, and instead of coming up Asheboro Street towards the fire, a lively run was taken down East Bragg Street. The horse was stopped just before the railroad was reached and no damage was done.

SPEAKING OF CHESS.

A Tedious and Absorbing Game—A Winning Team Suggested.

There is said to be no game, purely of skill, which so absorbs the minds of its devotees as the game of chess. There is a story to the effect that an emigrating spider, in search of a place where he might spin his silken web and live in undisturbed peace and quiet, came upon two chess players deeply interested in a game. "Oh," said he to himself, "I can spin my web between these two heads and live in innocuous desuetude for years to come." This may be a slight exaggeration, but that chess is a most absorbing game will not be denied.

There is said to be excellent chess talent in Greensboro, probably better than in any other North Carolina town. In this connection some one has suggested that the following named gentlemen would make a winning team: Dr. J. G. Brodnax, Prof. J. R. Wharton and Dr. W. J. Richardson, and Messrs. T. N. Winslow, Walter Greene and C. S. Watson. In the event of a tournament, it is asserted that these six gentlemen could make it interesting for the same number from any other town in the State.

Used Olive Oil.

A mistress before going out told her negro cook to fry some Saratoga chips in olive oil. The first thing that greeted the mistress upon her return was an unrecognizable and awful odor that penetrated every cranny of the flat. Rushing to the kitchen, the mistress found the chips sizzling away in a pan full of what proved to be vinegar.

"But I told you olive oil!" cried the mistress.

"Yes, ma'am, I know, ma'am," returned the cook, who, by the way, can read and write and is "up" upon matters of geography and history. "But, you see, ma'am, I didn't know what it was, and I saw that bottle there," pointing to a jar of olives, "and I just poured the stuff out of that over the potatoes. I s'posed that where there was olives there must be olive oil."—New York Sun.

Curious Facts About Coal.

Australian soft or bituminous coal produces twice as much gas as European or American coal. For this reason the Australian coal is imported into Europe, although it is very costly. This is a case of the best coal going to Newcastle to oust an inferior kind. Pennsylvania anthracite weighs twice as much as European anthracite and takes but half the space. This fact enables it to compete on favorable terms with the European product because of the advantage in railroad freights.—St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

Clever Suggestion.

"How shall I prove the sincerity of my devotion?" asked the young man who had been so long coming to the point that doubt had begun to accumulate against him.

"Call the parson in as a witness," suggested the young lady.—Detroit Free Press.

Democrats!—Don't for get the primaries tonight.

To Canada and Oregon.

Among Greensboro's diversified manufacturing enterprises the tobacco trade plays no small part. For the past season especially our manufacturers and leaf tobacco dealers have been active, and the volume of their business is steadily increasing.

While the dealers ship the leaf to all parts of the globe, the trade of local manufacturers is confined chiefly to the Southern States. But they are entering new territory as fast as the opportunities afforded by the market will permit. Messrs. E. J. and A. G. Stafford have just made a good shipment of plug goods to a point in Canada, while the Berger-Wood Tobacco Company has sold a bill to a firm in Oregon. It is fair to presume that both these shipments will be followed by others. That's customary with Greensboro-made articles.

Deeded to the Lord.

The most remarkable deed ever drawn may be seen on the private estate of a resident of Worcester in Massachusetts. It is chiseled on a rock on what is known as Rattlesnake hill, situated near the boundary line between Worcester and Leicester.

Old Solomon Parsons, who was widely known in Worcester county as an eccentric character, and particularly as a crank on the subject of religion, paid William C. Hall $125 for a parcel of land, and directed Hall to convey it by deed to the Almighty. In order that the greatest possible publicity might be given to his disposition of the property Parsons had the deed of transfer cut into the rock verbatim et literatim.

During his lifetime Parsons is said to have made several attempts to have the deed recorded, but the register of deeds, who was aware of his eccentricity, each time put him off with the explanation that no official record was required in the case of a transfer of real estate to the Almighty.

Parsons died intestate several years ago, and the administrator included the parcel of land on Rattlesnake hill in the inventory of the old gentleman's estate which he filed in the probate court. A wag of a lawyer raised the question of title, but the judge decided in the favor of the administrator.—New York Journal.

Anecdotes of Colonel Ege.

Colonel Ege was a famous character in the early days. Although living in Doniphan county, he was often in Atchison, followed by a pack of hounds. He was a high toned southern gentleman, with a kind heart.

One day while returning home from this city he came across a man whose wagon was stuck in the mud in Independence creek bottom. Colonel Ege at once started in to help the man pry out his wagon with a fence rail. While both were working away Ege became angry and yelled to the man, "Lift, you son of a gug; you are not lifting a pound." The man picked up the end gate of the wagon and split it over Ege's head, laying him up for three weeks. Ege had his hat off when he was struck and was so bald before coming to Kansas that he was known as the Bald Eagle of Maryland.

Ege always carried a pistol and was always trying to shoot through somebody's hat without hitting him. One day, at the Independence creek ferry, he shot at a man, but aimed a little low and creased him. But Ege was always a gentleman; he took the man into his home and tenderly cared for him until he recovered.—Atchison Globe.

Spanish Proverbs.

Proverbs uncomplimentary to the fair sex are common in Spain. "A woman, like a pavement, should be well trampled on to be kept in order." "A woman is like a candle. Twist her neck if you wish her to be good;" "Beware of a bad woman, and do not trust a good one;" "Crying in a woman and limping in a dog is all a sham;" "A cock crows on his own dunghill, but hens cackle everywhere" (this in reference to the supposed garrulousness and inquisitive disposition of the sex); "Show me a magpie without a spot and I will show you a woman without a fault." In English counterparts are not wanting, for example:

A woman, a dog and a walnut tree—
The more you beat them the better they be.

Mothers-in-law and stepmothers come in for a good deal of sarcasm. Some of the proverbs in regard to them will not stand translation. Of a man who is accounted lucky they say, "If he fell from the roof of a house, he would fall on the top of his mother-in-law."—Chambers' Journal.

A Card.

To the Editor of the Telegram:

About ten days ago friends called my attention to the fact that it was being freely stated that I had been slated for the nomination for alderman from the Fourth Ward and for the office of city treasurer in the event of election. I requested them to deny the statement for me whenever they met with it, and I supposed that the story had died a natural death. I am informed by a friend that the same story was current yesterday. I wish to say for the information of my friends that it is a fabrication without any foundation whatsoever, and that no such idea has ever been entertained or suggested by me or my friends for me. It is a piece of manufacture without a thread of truth. I have had no ambition in this direction, and would not accept any public office in addition to the one I now occupy. I would not be eligible until I have resigned the office I now hold, which I have never had any intention of doing.

is where we stand in the lumber business. At the kicking post, as it were, in regard to prices.

First comes the owner of the timber. He just woke up to the value of it and wants double last year's prices. Then the sawmill man. He has not been making a fortune and thinks now he should share a little in the general prosperity

They say to us: "We must have so much for our trees and work." After a while it is "up to you." Don't kick. You don't suppose we have nerve enough to put up prices unless they had first been put up on us. No, indeed. But prices are NOT high. They have been to low and are just now getting reasonable. Your children will be glad to build at double the price it now costs you. It is a trite, but true saying, if you want to build, "Now is the time."

And ours is the place to get the stuff.
